Government spokesperson Patrick Muyaya, Minister of Communication and Media, declared on 10 November that the DRC's continued membership in the International Organisation of La Francophonie (OIF) must reflect respect for sovereignty, democracy, and good governance. Muyaya directly opposed the continued leadership of Secretary-General Louise Mushikiwabo (former Rwandan foreign minister), stating "the OIF should no longer be led by Ms. Louise Mushikiwabo." He indicated the DRC has a candidate and vision for the organization's leadership and warned that Kinshasa would "draw the necessary conclusions" from the leadership selection process, leaving open the possibility of withdrawal if concerns are not addressed.
